Pin the black upper body to the white under body. Using a blanket stitch, sew the inside of the upper body (along the chin, down the wing to the bottom) to the under body. Tack a white circle in place for the eye using a French knot. I use a hole punch to make the little round circle.

Tack the feet to the inside of the body back. Pin the completed body front and body back sandwiching the feet inside. Sew the two body pieces together using a blanket stitch. Pause to stuff with fiberfill before completing the blanket stitch.

Sew on the beak with yellow floss. To make the scarf, cut a piece of felt 6" long by 1/2" (or slightly narrower) wide.

Note, for all of the sewing, I used three strands of embroidery floss.

Have fun!
